Tune arranged by Roland Clarke, 2019

History: On the 4th of June, 1789 a small party of convicts performed the play
"The Recruiting Officer", to commemorate the birthday of King George III.
In attendance were the Governor of the new colony in Sydney, Arthur Phillip and a number of other notable figures in the one-year-old colony.
The play was performed in a convict built hut. The play itself dates from much earlier in the c.18th
